VOL. 100 — NO. 46 | CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY TEXAS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1960 | 10 PAGES TODAY

OI' 100 With F. M. L.

We are getting something free this year. It's an extra day on the calendar, to be tallied as February 29 and granted during the 1960 leap year.

About every four years, this thing happens. A little research explained why:

Each year is actually measured 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 45.7 seconds or almost a quarter of a day. And every four years, early astronomers decided, was the logical time to make up the difference with a cumulative day of time due us.

100 - 100 - 100

This is to keep the record straight, I am certain. A few eons from now, astronomers will have to grant an extra day or so to make up for the 0.5 of a second of time we are losing each century.

When the earth revolves around the sun in one complete cycle, that is one year. By at least eight different time tables or calendars, man has kept tabs of his days on earth. It seems that Greek, Roman, Gregorian, Jewish, Mohammedan, Egyptian, Chinese and Mayan calendars were developed at various periods during the past 5,000 years. And each calculated the year at near the 365-day rate.

In modern times, it is rare to get something for nothing ..... an extra day as such. But when we look at it, we see that the day is due us, even if it takes four years to get here.

Sad, sad disillusionment. We find even leap year ain't what it used to be.

Modern astronomers want to bring all the various calendars -- religious and cultural -- into line with a 13 - month, 28 day revision.

Then, ol' leap year would be solved with the extra day tagged on the calendar after June 28. Another "year day", says the research book, would be created and added to the end of December. That would mean an extra uncalendared day every year beside the leap year day every four years.

100 - 100 - 100

We could really say we were getting some time off our hands or our calendars, couldn't we?

Lions Minstrel To Run 2 Nights At Auditorium

The Cameron Lions Club Minstrel is scheduled for a two - night showing Thursday and Friday, February 25 - 26, at Yoe High School Auditorium.

Charles Brady, Sr., publicity chairman, said that a cast of about 25 club members, wives and Cameron residents will join talents in an old - time minstrel chorus.

Mrs. Bill Crockett, Cameron, is show director. And interlocutor is Eugene Mees.

Endmen in the traditional minstrel comedy lineup will be George Bowman, James Wiggs, Herbert Nance, Earle Pearson and Richard Williams.

Brady said special numbers will include a baritone solo by John Schigut, a medley of barbershop harmony, an instrumental combination and other specialty acts.

Practice sessions have been underway for about four weeks, Brady said. Group rehearsals of the entire company will begin this week. Individual acts have been practicing at special sessions.

No New Filings In City, School

Candidates for the city and school board posts up for election were still scarce this week with no new candidates reported by either agency.

Thus far, Coleman Duncum has filed for mayor in the city.

And Mrs. Dana Monroe has filed for re - election to the Cameron School Board.

Meanwhile school board officials reported that 42 coaches had applied for the head coach's job.

Niley Smith, one of the school board members, said that applicants from schools in Texas and four other states have applied for the post.

He said that assistant coaches from AAAA, AAA and AA schools have applied and head coaches from AA, A and B schools have applied.

Posts up for election in the city race are the mayor's post, council positions now held by Sam Houston and Roy Griffith, and one-year unexpired terms created by Lincoln Mondrik's resignation last week and Hayden Lawrence's death in December.

In the school board, two posts currently held by W. F. Vogelsang and Mrs. Monroe are up for consideration. The school board election is April 2.

The city election will be held Tuesday, April 5.

O. A. White, Cameron businessman, has withdrawn his application to run for the one - year unexpired term vacated by H. G. Pressley's resignation three weeks ago.

The Texas Education Agency ruled last week that the school board must appoint a successor to succeed Pressley.

White said he wished only to run for the one - year term and withdrew when the state ruling was announced.

Fires In Milano Destroy Co-op Shed, M. F. Kirk Home

Cameron firemen raced to Milano twice in the past week to fight major fires there and extinguished a sawdust blaze near Walled Lake Door Co.

Officials said that the Milano Co - op tomato shed burned down in the early morning hours Monday. Fire trucks from Cameron and Rockdale rushed to the site, but were unable to stem the blaze in the wooden building.

Fire truck driver Frank Richter, Sr., said that lack of sufficient water in Milano prevented firemen from holding down flames in both fires. He said they had to stand by to protect surrounding property.

Firemen answered a call about 9:30 p. m. Tuesday at Walled Lake Door Co., where a smoldering pile of sawdust behind the plant was stirred up by high winds. No damage was reported.

In the Co - op shed fire, officials said the entire structure burned to the ground and some machinery inside the buidling was lost.

Red Heads Return For MOD Benefit

The All - American Red Heads, all - girl basketball team will play a return match with a Cameron men's team 8 p. m. Saturday, February 20, at Yoe Gymnasium for the March of Dimes benefit.

MOD officials also announced the annual MOD "bucket brigade" will be held Saturday in Cameron.

The MOD benefit game a year ago ended in 53 - 52 overtime thriller with the Red Heads taking the win.

Referees will be YHS Principal J. R. Young and Earl Curtis.

All proceeds of both the "bucket Brigade" and benefit game will go to the annual MOD drive in Milam County.

Playing men's teams only and using regular men's rules, the Red Heads win more than 100 games each season, Coach Orwell Moore says.

The girls team has played in Canada, Mexico, Alaska and the Phillipine Islands, as well as throughout the United States.

"Ole" Oleson organized the original Red Heads team 22 years ago. Since that time they have been featured in national magazines such as Sporting News, Sports Life, Pic and have appeared on the Ed Sullivan show.

Their adopted home is in Caraway Ark.

Ball Park Needs $500 For Finish

Chester Simons, vice - president of Cameron Little League, announced today that the drive for the new Little League ball park still needed $500 for final work.

He noted that $4,041 had been collected for the drive for the new ballpark, no waiting erection of bleachers and installation of lights.

Bassel Wilson, president of Cameron Little League, said that Southwest Bell Telephone Co. had donated $50 this week in the most recent donation.

Officials said that donations may be sent to Cameron Little League, Cameron, Texas.

The baseball park is located on the old Milam Institute Grounds, donated for the purpose by the Cameron School District and leveled and conditioned for construction by city workmen.

The City of Cameron last fall budgeted $1,000 for lights, but more money is needed to get enough for the tall poles already erected, Simons said.

A fence around the perimeter of the field and a strong mesh-wire backstop already have been emplaced.

"Volunteer fund - raising teams have received wonderful reception from Cameron businesses and individuals," Simons said. "We hope the last few hundred dollars can be obtained to put our goal over the top."

He compared the completed plant Cameron will have with any in Central Texas for a great deal more money spent.

Both Little League and Babe Ruth teams will be able to play on the 275-foot field.

"It is a project we are proud to see Cameron boosting," Simons said. "And we know that it will give hundreds and even thousands of boys in years to come a great deal of pleasure and healthy recreation."

Simons also said that plans included getting official National Little League sanction for the Cameron program so that local teams can compete in state and national playoffs

Filing Fee Set

Pat Clark Withdraws

Pat Clark, a candidate for state representative for Milam - Robertson Counties, has withdrawn from the race, Max McClaren, chairman of the Milam Democratic committee, reported today.

He announced that the Milam Democratic committee also set the candidate filing fee at 3½ percent of the four - year salary due to anticipated additional cost of running the primary election.

McClaren said the committee at first considered a plan for 3 percent of the filing fee, but the possibility of three candidates withdrawing and the limited number of candidates brought on the decision to set the 3½ percent fee.

The Milam Democratic chairman said that the total of 30 candidates this year was the least number of candidates in the past 22 years of primary elections.

He also noted that 11 of the offices are uncontested this year.

The Democratic primary is scheduled for May 7.

"There is a possibility of a refund to candidates after the primary elections are completed," he added. "In 1958, candidates received a refund after the primary and primary runoff election were over."

Clark, of Rockdale, was the only candidate to withdraw from the announced candidates who had filed prior to the deadline February 1.

The Democratic Committee will meet again in March to draw up the ballot lineup and set hour and date for precinct convention McClaren said.

MR. and MRS. ELIJA GOODNIGHT

Last Soldier Of Mexican War Buried On Texas Grounds

Central Texas can lay claim to being the final resting place for the last soldier of the Mexican War, Elija Goodnight, who is buried at Corcord near Waco.

Goodnight, as was told in the Waco Tribune - Herald recently, was from one of the famous old pioneer Texas families. Elija hit Central Texas when the indians were still raiding the settlers. He fought in the Mexican War and later he was a forager with the Confederate Army in the Civil War.

He was a freighter and farmer. He was a big man, not fat but had a big frame.

The Goodnights originally came to this country from Germany and settled in Pennsylvania. They came to Texas when Elija and his brother, Chairle, were only boys and Texas was still a Republic. Here they settled near Old Nashville, at the junction of the Brazos and Little Rivers, in Milam County.

Elija joined the Army when he was only 17 and fought in the Mexican War. For a while after the war, Elija was a freighter driving an ox team between Calvert and Houston. He often stayed on the prairie outside of Houston because the town was filled with Yellow fever and he was afraid of the disease.

In the Civil War Elija served the South by rounding up cattle and taking them to the Confederates so they could feed the soldiers.

Elija once owned he land where the General Tire plant is now located. Part of the James Connally Air Force Base is on land that was in the Goodnight farm.

Elija has many descendants in Central Texas. Among them is Ed Westbrook, a grandson, of 100 West 15th St., Cameron.

When he died on Dec. 1, 1920, he was 89 years old. He was buried in Concord Cemetery on the Old Corsicana Road. A marble marker at his graves lists him as "The Last Mexican War Veteran, 1848."

Ex-Cameronite To Present Photo Show In Austin

A former Cameron resident R. H. Beacham, held a one man show of his work at the Laguna Gloria Art Gallery in Austin. The exhibition was open on Sunday, February 7, and will be up until March 7. The entire collection is made up of photograhs of famous people who have posed for Beacham during the last fourteen years

Known professionally as Hans Beacham, the photographer first established his reputation outside the United States before he began doing illustrations for books and magazines in this county. As a tribute to his work in Mexico, he was honored in that country last year with a retrospective exhibition of his work at the Galeria de Arte Mexicano in Mexico City. This is the first time that a North American Photographer has been honored with such a show in Mexico. Many of the pictures from the show will be exhibited in Austin at Laguna Gloria.

Beacham gained his first photographic experiences during his high school days in Cameron when he worked for Charles Brady. Before the war, he worked briefly as a technical photographer for Ryan Aircraft, and upon leaving military service in 1945, worked briefly for the Technicolor Coproration in Hollywood. He freelanced among west coast theatrical groups, but in 1946 opened his own shop in the Texas Panhandle. He did extensive editorial photography for The Amarillo News and the Tulia Herald, and began contribution seasonal illustrations to various wire services.

In 1951, he began doing serious work in Mexico, and since that time has documented nearly all the important artists of that country, and will soon publish an illustrated reference book on Mexican painters and their work. He will begin work on a similar book showing the painters and other creative people of Texas.

Beacham has also illustrated many children's books, eight of which were published this year by W. S. Benson and Company. Titled "Our Expanding Vision," they have been adopted for public school use in several states, uncluding Texas. Another publication, soon to be published, will give an account of Beacham's experiences while photographing famous opera singers. Some of these subjects have been Maria Callas, Rese Stepens, Dorothy Kirsten, George London and many others, along with a quick look at Elsa Maxwell during a glittering social event.

Although Beacham's favorite subjects are painters, he has also photographed such literarf people as Katherine Ann Porter, Englanand's adopted poet T. S. Eliot, Stephen Spender, Juan Ruffo, and Octavio Paz. His assignments take him to many countries and during 1960 he will be working in Spain, England, Greece and other European areas.

Beacham was graduated from C. H. Yoe High School in 1942 and later attended the University of Texas where he majored in liberal arts. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Beacham, live in Cameron. His sister, Mrs. Chalmers E. Terry, lives in Caldwell.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Dr Walter Prescott Webb has been described as having one of the four finest intellects in Texas. He is the immediate past president of the American Historical Association and he is the author of several scholarly books which have won wide respect. For many years he has been connected with the University of Texas where he holds the title of distinguished professor.

So much for the learned educator -- and now a little about the man.

First time we ever met was at an autographing in Dallas for his first book. As I shook hands with him, I said:

"Dr. Webb, something is going to have to be done. I am the author of a book which came out a short time ago and the title of your book is very similar to mine. People are going to get confused and buy your "Texas Rangers" thinking that they are getting my 'Were You in Ranger."

(Actually his volume was 400 pages and sold for $5, mine was less than 200 pages and was priced at $1.50)

"So I suggest that you change the name of your book."

His admirers gasped - but a slow smile lit up his face.

Soon afterward, out of the corner of his mouth, he murmured, "Let's slip out of here and get a cup of coffee" -- which we did and had an opportunity to get acquainted.

He read my book on the Ranger oil boom and wrote, generously, "I envy you the ability to get the interest of the reader with your first sentence."

Dr. Webb was especially interested in Ranger because he attended high school there and earned his way by janitorial work. Once when I introduced him as having graduated from Ranger High, he said, "Boyce, they didn't give diplomas then."

He placed me on the program of the Texas Historical Society to speak on the Spindletop oil boom, along with savants.

One time a friend of mine and I entered an Austin cafe and I caught sight of Senator Ralph Yarborough and Dr. Webb at the counter. I said to Yarborough, "Judge I believe you would be interested in meeting the man who was' the boy chief of police' in Ranger during the boom."

The learned historian drawled, 'What makes you think I wouldn't like to meet him, too?"

Survey Shows 20 Original Families Live In City Units

A recent survey of the Cameron Housing Authority showed that 20 of the original families living in the 50 - unit housing project still live there, George McGehee housing manager said today.

Sixty - eight children and 14 elderly persons over 65 years of age are living in the Cameron Housing Authority's dwelling units according to McGehee.

Housing is located in two locations, a 36 - unit white development in North Cameron and a 14 - unit non - white development in Northwest Cameron.

McGehee said the authority payment in lieu of taxes to the city totaled $1,185.63 through September, 1959.

He said that eligibility for residence and rent in the project is based on income of the family. He noted that admissions to the project may be applied for at the authority office, 501 E. 19th St.

Standard Vs. A Way' . . .

One of President Eisenhower's "parochial generals" told a Senate committee last week that the United States was confusing a "standard of living" with a "way of life."

His remarks came before the Senate's appropriations subcommittee that is hearing testimony on military preparedness.

Former Army Chief of Staff Maxwell Taylor questioned the present program of military spending and planning in the light of Russian military competition.

Present Chief of Staff Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer defended the traditional tripartite chief of staff setup in the Pentagon and said it could and was working. Taylor suggested centralizing military decisions in one chief of staff for all three service branches.

All the furor envelopes the issue of military spending for rockets, missiles and military hardware to meet the growing strength of Russian atoms and rocketry.

The military says in brief that a bigger budget for military spending is necessary. The Administration says current military spending (about $41 billions per year) is enough to keep us abreast and most likely ahead of Russian military development.

It amounts to a question of dollars for defense or dollars for domestic development.

The statement of Americans' confusing their way of life with living standards should have struck a rather sympathetic tone among thinking Americans.

To put the issue strictly on a dollar basis has been a falicy in American thinking during the post-WW II era.

To put it mildly, Americans associate a way of life with dollar signs. And now our government relates our whole position in world politics in terms of economics.

We ask: What creates dollars and strength and stability? Is it only more dollars? Is it an adjustment in the nation's budget?

It is people and their attitudes and sensibilities. When directed toward the goal of producing wealth, this nation outproduces all others. When directed at maintaining a free way of life, the only atmosphere in which capitalism can exist, this nation can thwart the most demonic aggressor.

All the military spending possible in this industrial nation of ours would not stave off a creeping, knawing complacency that undermines the will to pull the trigger.

The issue at hand is one of practical dollars for defense, obviously necessary as Russia tools for greater stockpiles of armor. It is only one of numerous threats posed by the Communist sphere.

But let us not think that a stockpile of dollars will deter the insidious design of Communist doctrine. It can only be met within our own minds.

Let's think more carefully of putting devotion in place of dollars. We might call it patriotism to ourselves. Patriotism does not mean fanatic flag waving. It means continuous, hard work for institutions that are found only in a free society.

The Little River Philosopher

Russia Has Finally Hit On Right Idea For Improving Its Farming

Dear editar:

Not being a General in the army or an atomic scientist, I'm in no position to say anything important about the missile lag and how far Russia is ahead of us in this matter, although that she's ahead of us is pretty obvious, but when it comes to ideas on farming, I'm ready with an answer, and as everybody knows, if America's missile men were as productive as America's farmers, Russia would be the one worrying about the missle lag. You haven't heard of anybody in Washington worrying about where we're going to store guided missiles, have you'?

But what brings me to this is an article I read yes I read yesterday on an agricultural conference being held in Moscow, As I understand it, Communist leaders from all the provinces throughout Russia are gathering to review the situation and find out why Russian farming is so far behind. Somebody in Russia has woke up to the fact you can't eat guided missiles.

And what interests me about the conference is an idea suggested by Mr. Khrushchev, who toured the United States last year and visited some farms. He's arguing that what's needed is a "cash incentive to make reluctant peasants better collective farmers."

Mr. Khrushchev has put his finger on the source of the trouble. Regardless of how thrilling it is to see your country's satelites chasing each other around through space, regardless of how exciting it is to see a picture of the backside of the moon taken by your own brilliant scientists, there's nothing that's ever been found yet that's a complete substitute for cash in hand.

A cash incentive is one of the most effective tools of agriculture ever invented by the mind of man, and that goes I suspect too for teachers, lawyers, doctors, grocerymen, editors, blacksmiths and occasionally a Congressman.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Gas Tax To Draw New Court Test

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Here wer go again!

It seems as if a segment of Texas history is repeating itself as the state and numerous gas companies go to court to decide the constitutionality of a new gas tax.

Some 80 gas companies have filed suit asking the court to declare invalid the natural gas severance beneficiary tax passed by the Legislature last summer. Six of the suits are set for trail beginning Feb. 15.

They will be tried in the same Austin district court in which the contest over the old gas gathering tax was begun. This tax law was passed by the Legislature in 1951 and eventually declared unconstitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court.

Gas companies are attacking the new severance beneficiary tax on much the same grounds they did the gathering tax. They contend it is in violation of interstate commerce laws.

came after one of the hardest battles of the stormy six month session. It places a 1.5 per cent levy on the pipelines on the grounds that they benefit from the taking out of gas.

Revenue - wise the gas tax represents a rather modest portion of the overall tax program passed in 1959. It was estimated it would bring in about $15,000,000 of an overall $185,000,000.

SHORT BALLOT

In the 12 races for statewide office this year, there will be only 22 candidates.

Six state officials are seeking re-election unopposed.

Some years ago, there were almost as many candidates in the governor's race alone as there are for all the statewide offices. In those days the filing fee was only $100. Today's price is killing off the competition.

Filing fees today are 5 percent of annual salary which runs $1,250 for governor, $1,125 for U. S. Senator, $600 for lieutenant governor, etc.

WATCH THAT "FLU"

If you're one of those lucky Texans who hasn't yet been hit by influenza, State Health Commissioner J. E. Peavy has advice for you:

"Don't take any chances."

In several cities the flu has reached epidemic proportions. Dallas reported the highest flu - caused death toll since the 1918 siege.

Dr. Peavy said flu ordinarily lasts only three to five days but must be taken seriously because of the possibiltiy of complications such as pneumonia.

He advised against self - treatment and urged victims to go to bed and call a doctor at the outset.

PTA ENDORSES SESSION

Some 85 percent of local P-TA leaders in Texas favor a special session to raise teachers' salaries according to a report made to Gov. Price Daniel. ..

Mrs. T. W. Whaley of Kosse, president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, told the governor that executive committee members of 563 local P-TA units were polled.

She said 8,155 favored a special session, 847 were undecided and 563 were against it. There were no suggestions as to how to pay the bill.

Governor Daniel has held off calling a special session pending the development of enough public and legislative support to lic and leyislative support to arry carry it through to success.

Machines And Chemicals Cut '59 Cotton Costs

COLLEGE STATION — Texas cotton producers saved an estimated $55.5 million by harvesting about half of their 1959 crop with machines. Another $13.9 million was saved by using machinec and chemicals for controlling grass and weeds in their fields, reports Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

While these savings were being made, they also posted the State's second highest field of lint per acre, 337 pounds. The 7-Step Cotton Program, initiated 14 years ago by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been a major factor in the progress made by the growers of the State's most important crop, believes Elliott.

The program brought together on the county and state basis committee representing every seg - ment of the cotton industry and all have worked for its improvement. Since 1946, the average lint yield per harvested acre has increased from 134 pounds to the 1959 yield of 337 pounds.

Last year county agents in 205 counties assisted producers with various phases of the 7-Step Program. Emphasis was placed on the use of cotton burs for soil improvement and to reduce gin fires. Burs were spread on 8,323 farms in 138 counties. A few years ago most of the burs were burned as waste, Elliott noted.

There was a marked increase in the use of defoliants and desiccants and machine harvesting i n 1959 over 1958. Harvest aid chemicals were used on 58,236 farms in 167 counties as compared to 1959 over 1958. Harvest aid che- 1958.

In posting the $69 million plus savings in labor, producers used 29,236 strippers harvesters and 3,280 spindle pickers in 143 and 100 counties, respectively. T h e weed and grass control savings were made through the use of 43,378 rotary hoe equipped tractors in 166 counties, the use of spot oiling of Johnsongrass o n 150,834 acres in 155 counties, an Lateral oiling with post emergence chemicals for weed control was in 56 counties.

Full credit, says the specialist, goes to the county 7-Step Committee and the county afents of Texas for the achievements made under the program. Their contributions, concludes Elliott, to this cooperative effort have materially strengthened the economy of Texas.

Judge Greenhill To Speak At Thorndale C of C Banquet

JUDGE JOE GREENHILL

Judge Joe Greenhill, Associate Justice of the Texas S u p r e m e Court of Austin will be the main speaker of the sixth annual Thorndale Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday evening, February 16.

Judge Greenhill a graduate of the University of Texas received three degrees each with highest honors: BA and BBA in 1936 and LLB in 1939. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa (after three years instead of the usual four years) and to Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary business fraternity.

While he was in Law school he was selected to Phi Delta Phi and the order of the Coif. He was also editor of the Texas L a w Review. He was further honored while attending the University by being made Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook, "The Cactus", being Senior Manager of Intramural Athletics, foreman of the cowboys and was the University's candidate for the Rhodes Scholarship in 1937.a

Greenhill passed his bar exams while a junior in law school and recieved his license in 1938. He entered the practice of law in Houston upon his graduation in 1939. After two years practice he was invited to become a briefing attorney to the Supreme Court in 1941.

During World War II he applied for and recieved an Ensign's commission and went on active duty for Naval Intelligence. He participated in the action at Guam, Saipan, Eniwetok, Palau and similar areas and held the rank of Lieutneant Senior Grade.

After the war he resumed his position as briefing attorney for the Supreme Court and on October 1, 1957, was appointed Associate Justice of Texas Supreme Court to succeed the late Associate Justice Few Brewster. He later obtained the Democratic nomination for that post and was elected to it in the general election of November 1958.

Judge Greenhill is married and is the father of two sons, aged 17 and 13.

Feed Grains Gain 7 Percent Over 1958 Production

COLLEGE STATION — The total supply of feed grains and other concentrates for 1959 - 60, (October 1, 1959 - September 30, 1960), has increased to a record high of 265 million tons, seven percent larger than in 1958 - 59 and more than a third larger than the 1953-57 average.

Supplies have set new records for each of the past six years, according to John McHaney, extension economist. The supply this year (1959-60) will total about 18 million tons more than last year, making the seventh year of steadily increasing supplies. A major reason for the increase was the 1959 record feed crop of nearly 10 million tons larger than the 1958 crop and 38 million tons larger than the 1953 - 57 average. The increased yields per acre also added to the supply.

Oats supply is expected to be 1,459 million bushels, 17 percent below that of last year and the smallest supply since 1947. Barley is expected tot tal 622 million bushels, he said, down five percent from last year, but a fourth larger than the 1953 - 57 average. The record high corn crop of 1959 is expected to increase corn supplies to a record six billion bushels, 37 percent above the 1953 - 57 average.

The total supply of sorghum grain for 1959 - 60 is estimated at about 1,074 million bushels, 16 percent above last year and more than three times the 1953 - 57 average. The 1959 crop of 573 million bushels was 7 percent smaller than that of 1958, but more than double the 1953 - 57 average. McHaney said total utilization is expected to be substantially larger in 1959 - 60 than the 423 million bushels used comestically and exported in 1958 - 59.

Feed grain prices are expected to average a little lower in 1959-60 due to the record 1959 crop and the large supplies. Expected lower livestock prices in 1960 and lower supports, especially for sorghum grain, will have a tendency to cause feed grain prices to be lower.

American History Month Observed By National Society

The National Society, D. A. R. is again sponsoring the observance of February as American History Month and Gov. Price Daniel has proclaimed this in Texas.

Locally, members of the Sarah McCalla Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, are calling attention to the event, and feel that young and old Americans should be reminded of our rich heritage, which is full of heroism and greatness. To pay our debt to the past and to understand our obligation to the future, Americans must remember that freedom is not free, and that it came about through the sacrifice, perservance, wisdom and great faith of our forefathers. If we are to preserve our freedom, we must understand our heritage and be inspired by it, according to Mrs. H. T. Coulter, chapter regent.

The Sarah McCalla Chapter is promoting the observance of February as American History Month with a George Washington Luncheon in Salado February 24 with members and their guests. The chapter also is planning to recognize the outstanding student of American History in Yoe High School.

4-H Club Notes

By Robert W. Hoermann
Ass't County Agent

Joyce Fuchs and Glen Hughes, County Wide 4-H Club members, presented a safety demonstration before the Cameron Home Demonstration Club Tuesday, February 2.

Joyce is very active in the 4-H Safety Program. She has conducted safety tours and presented safety demonstrations to 4-H members. Her 4-H Safety Record Book went to the State Contest in 1959.

Glen has given safety domonstrations to 4-H clubs and entered a Home Grounds Improvement Record Book in the District contest in 1959.

All 4-H members should make safety a year 'round activity.

4-H Club members may carry Wildlife demonstrations as a project. Wildlife will afford sport and financial returns if properly managed.

Winter is the time for plowing and discing strips of land along fence rows and near woody cover to increase the quality and quantity of native plants which produce quail foods. This may be cheaper than planting cultivated food crops.

The general abundance of quail in the county during 1959 - 60 points out how these birds are able to "come back" when adequate rainfall produces good food and cover plants. It also demonstrates that restocking with pen raised birds is unnecessary in most cases.

Allen Turner, Thorndale 4-H member is learning the hog business through swine 4-H projects. He exhibited three swine in the Milam County Junior Livestock Show.

Don Glaser, Buckholts 4-H Club member, will exhibit his beef steer at the San Antonio Stock Show from February 10 - 19.

Don is making plans for the 1961 shows and has gotten a Short horn steer for the coming year.

The best way to grow large fish in the shortest length of time is to stock the pond properly with fish and fertilize it. Fertilizing time for this area is from March 1 - June 1.

Proper fertilization (small amounts at intervals during late winter and spring, generally based on soil test of the watershed) will usually "shade out" troublesome underwater plant growth.

Fishing will be good the weeks prior to spawning time. When the cold weather begins to slacken, be ready.

Chili Supper Feb. 17

The Ladies of St. Monica's Parish are sponoring a chili Supper on Wednesday Feb. 17 at Simon-George Hall. Serving will begin at 5 p.m. The price is 50 cents for adults. The public is invited to attend.

County Agent Notes:

Grain Needs Soil Fertility

By J. D. Moore, County Agent

Oats and other small grains have not made the recovery expected by stockmen for livestock grazing due largely to lack of soil fertility. If anyone dubts this statement, they should visit Joe Glasers place south of Buckholts and take a look at oats on land fertilized with poultry manure.

Glaser follows the practice of cleaning his large poultry houses cut once a year. The mixture of litter and manure is hauled out and spread on pasture or crop land during the fall months resulting in excellent soil fertility for coastal bermuda, field crops and oats for winter grazing.

Oats for grazing need the equivalent of 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre. Oats to be harvested sould not be fertilized too heavily to avoid lodging. The nitrogen fertilizer can be applied on top of the oats with a regular fertilizer drill or broadcast spreader.

PEANUT BLIGHT ON PEANUTS is caused by a soil borne fungus and is a major problem in the production of peanuts in Texas. Losses from the disease may vary from a trace to almost complete failure. The recent trend toward the irrigation of peanuts has magnified the problem in some sections of the state.

A method to control southern blight of peanuts with chemicals has been attempted in Texas for several years under greenhouse and field conditions. It was not until Terraclor (pentachlor - onitrobenzene) was used as a chemical control for southern blight of peanuts that field testing with fungicides started to show promising results.

Experimental tests received the fungicide as a spray applied in three applications, July 8, 15 and 22. Results show an average increase of $74.30 per acre from the two rates of Terraclor over the check plots. The cost of the application must be subtracted from this figure to get the net increase.

Although Terraclor looks promising for the control of southern blight of peanuts, it is not yet recommended except on an experimental basis. Formal recommendations for its use will be made only after additional tests and evaluation are made.

Stockman Saves On Depreciation

COLLEGE STATION — Farm and ranch operators should not overlook annual depreciation on purchased livestock. Depreciation is allowable on breeding or dairy animals used in the business points out C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

Observations show that most farm and ranch operators claim depreciation on buildings and equipment, but few take this deduction on livestock. Claims for allowable depreciation are of greater tax consequence when cost of the animals is well above their "salvage" value.

Generally, salvage value is the estimated market price of animals after they have passed normal "useful life" to the taxpayer, sys Bates. Thus, replacement cows or bulls bought for relatively high prices would be entitled to greater depreciation allowance normally. Higher than average prices prevailed during late 1958 and through 1959, so this item is very important for animals bought in this period.

For example, let's assume that 10 young range cows were bought in January 1959 for $225 each and the operator plans to use them for six years, barring disease or accident. Let's use $75 per head salvage value for this group; therefore, $150 may be depreciated for each cow over the 6 years. This would mean $25 per cow or $250 annually for the 10 head. If greater numbers are involved, the depreciation deduction would be proportionately greater.

If allowable depreciation is not claimed each year, the operator losses the deduction. Every ranchman or livestock producer should disuss this question with whomever makes his tax report. Many tax acountants have devised sheets for keeping continuous depreciation records on the same animals for a period of years, the specialist says.

Chapter 9 in the Farmer's Tax Guide explains details concerning depreciation on livestock and other assets. Get a copy from your county agent, advises Bates, and check on depreciation along with any other tax questions you may any other tax qyestions you may have.

Conservation Work In State Made Real Progress In 1959

COLLEGE STATION — A year end summary of conservation educational activities carried out during 1959 in Texas shows that real progress was made, says John H. Barton, extension soil and water conservation specialist. The summary was compiled by Barton from the 1959 annual reports of the State's county agricultural agents.

The specialist said that team work and understanding between the supervisors of the Soil Conservation Districts and the county agents of Texas were largely responsible for the progress made in educational activities. These activities included meetings, tours, and contests, educational exhibits and demonstrations, preparation of newspaper and magazine stories, presentation of radio aand television programs, distribution of printed material, and meetings involving SCD supervisors ond county agents.

All educational activities showed good increases, Barton said. Outstanding increases were posted in the use of educational exhibits and demonstrations and printed materials for furthering conservation work, he noted.

Barton pointed out that the 177 soil conservation districts of Texas now cover approximately 98 percent of the farm and ranch lands and that the districts are the medium through which local residents can develop and pro - mote their own soil, water and plant conservation program.

Each of the districts, he added, is a self - governed, State subdivision established by the dis - trict residents through popular vote. They concentrate the authority in the local community and exercise it by democratic methods. A local district is supervised by a five - man board, and are elected public officials of a subdivision of the State government.

The Texas Legislature in 1940 authorized the creation of Soil Conservation Districts as an aid to carrying out the State Constitution as it relates to the safety, and general welfare of the people of Texas.

"Maize after maize, 6,000 lbs. per acre with ammonia"

E. B. HENDERSON OF ROGERS, TEXAS reports 70 lbs. of Phillips Ammonia made the difference

"About 70 pounds of Phillips 66 Ammonia put down pre-plant increased our maize yield at least 2000 pounds per acre. The ammonia definitely helped the plants take water and they came out of yellow quick and made 6000 pounds per acre maize," according to E. B. Henderson.

"Cotton following maize," he says, "made three-fourths bale per acre where 70 pounds of Phillips Ammonia was applied. And we feel ammonia really helps improve soil condition . . . makes soil easier to plow."

Thousands of Texas farmers use Phillips 66 Ammonia to help assure top net profits per acre—in wet or dry years. Field reports prove that Phillips 66 Ammonia (1) produces more high grade lint (2) increases sorghum grain and corn yields (3) boosts wheat and small grain yields (4) stimulates pasture growth for more meat and milk.

See your local Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia Distributor now. You can make more money this year with this 82% nitrogen fertilizer. It can be applied by you or your distributor.

4-H Poultry Judging Team Wins First At Fort Worth

Two senior poultry judging teams coached by Milam county Agent J. D. Moore, took First and third places Saturday, February 6, at the annual Poultry Judging Contest held each year as a part of the Youth program at the Fat Stock Show.

Counties with an agent and assistant are are allowed to enter two teams. Team No. 1 and team No. 2 were so designated as a result of scores made by the individual team members at a recent practice contest at Texas A & M college.

Team placings and scores were:

1. Milam Co Team No. 2 ----- 1595 points (possible score 1800)
2. Brazos Co Team No. 1 ----- 1545 points
3. Milam Co Team No. 1 ----- 1543 points
4. Canadian, Okla. -- 1537 points
5. Brazos Co Team No. 2 ----- 1503 points

Milam Co's winning team No. 2 was composed of Barbara Barta of Cameron, Edmund Michalka, Ad Hall and Curtis Fuchs, Buckholts, turned the tables on Milam's team No. 1 to take high score at the contest.

Team No. 1 from Milam County was composed of Arvell Jungmann, Buckholts, Joyce Fuchs, Cameron and Henry Tomasek, Jr. of Ad Hall

The poultry judges are being trained for District and State competition in April and June. The District contest will be held at Stephenville and the State contest at A & M College in June.

The scores Saturday were the first indication of a winning team pattern, acording to the county agent. Moore coached the State winning teams in 1957 and 1958 and is the opinion that Milam County could have another State winning team this year if the team members continue to improve in desire, initiative and study habits.

Tips On Catching Bass

By Vern Sanford

Want to catch big bass the year round?

Want to catch them when other fellows are going home empty - handed?

Here are some tips, relayed to us by experts, that may help you fill out your stringer with whoppers.

The average black bass fisherman gets his greatest thrill out of snagging a big black on a top-water lure.

Chances are he's going to catch some good bass on those surface plugs, all right. However, it will be mostly luck, rather than skill, unless he has made some kind of study of the bass and its feeding habits.

Fact of the business is the black bass perfers deep water, and he would stay there all the time, except for two things.

One is that the bass must follow the minnows, small bream, shed and other food he eats. When the water temperature gets uncomfortable for these little fish down deep, they come to the top -- so do the bass, naturally, in their search for food.

Also in relation to food, the bass will come to the surface when there is a chance for him to catch baby birds that fall out of nests, insects on top of the water, frogs, mice, and whatever else might last for several weeks in the spring.

Now we've accounted for maybe five per cent of the time when the big bass are within 10 feet of the surface. The rest of the time they're deeper, and if the fisherman wants to be successful, he's got to get down where they are. How deep?

Depends on the size bass you want. Conditions vary, of course, but as a general rule, you might say that in a suitable hole, there will be a school of small ones maybe 15 feet down. At 20 feet, there would be a school of 1½ and 2 pounders. Go down to 25 feet and you'll find the three - pound fish. The lunkers are there -- at 30 to 40 feet.

If a bass could select his own habitat, he would look for a place along a ledge, where the water drops off to 40 feet, and there there are tall weeds growing all the way to the bottom. He has a place to come up and feed along the bank where the minnows are, but most of the time he stays down, deep down, in his green weedy home.

So he's 30 feet down, and you're fishing with surface lures, and you get nothing.

Your change to a "deep diving" lure, maybe one that has a spoon bill on the front to make it dig into the water while being retrieved. Well, that lure reaches a depth of 10 to 12 feet for a brief bit of its journey, bur at no time does it get anywhere close to the big ones.

Okay, so they're deep, are they? You tie on a sinking lure, cast it out and give it time enough to reach the bottom. Then you begin rerieving. And nothing happens. You begin to wonder what's the trouble. You can think of lots of reasons, most likely, but the real one probably is this.

Even when you used that sinking lure, you didn't give it time enough to get really deep. It seemed like a long time, but you were a little impatient. And you thought about losing a lure along the rocky weedy, brushy bottom, so you started reeling in too fast.

You remember what the experts told you about fishing with surface lures? Cast one over by an old stump and let it sit until all the ripples have disappeared. Then give it a very slight twitch and forget about it for awhile. Work it slow. The same principle applies in deep water, and the experts know it. You must use the right technique.

Toss a good lure - black jig, black eel, spoin with prok chunk, lead - headed plastic worm -- into good bass water and leave it alone until you get slack in your line, meaning that the lure is really and truly on the bottom. Now wait a while. If the bass is nearby, he'll be looking at the thing, speculatively or angrily or hungrily.
